

Nodes and paths provide geographic context. They do not represent direct measurements of commodity movement.